"Being Seriously Playful"

You are invited to join René Veugelers for a 'Seriously Playful' 2 day course in: Experiential Listening & Focusing skills, Non-Verbal Communication, & Creativity & Therapeutic Art Making, Inner Child Contact and Deepening Bodily Awareness.

This two days workshop is about the basic listening skills of Children Focusing, working with creative expression and non-verbal communication. The central goal is to achieve authentic contact and open connection through simple, structured exercises designed to support the process of re-connection with yourself and articulate ways to transfer this authenticity into everyday life and your roles as . . . a parent, therapist, and / or teacher. We will do all of the above in a safe environment with clear boundaries that respect the need for privacy and vulnerability inherent in much of childhood & adolescent experience. This brings always a fresh experience, subtlety and joy to every connection with children and with adults

What to expect. An invitation to participate in activities offering you direct experience of the tools, techniques and inherently gentle, playful approach of Experiential Focusing. Gradual, supported learning in a safe group environment, allowing you to absorb the skills, knowledge and attitudes that result in real contact with others ~ both children & adults.
